MAY 13 – MASS OF INSTALLATION AND 1ST RECONCILIATION

On Saturday, May 13, at Mary of Nazareth Church, Bishop William Shomali will formally install Fr. John R. Sheehan, SJ as Pastor of the English Language Church in Amman. Although our “parish” includes six different sites where we celebrate Mass, we can obviously only have one installation Mass, so we selected Sweifieh, at least partly because it is convenient for the Bishop and the time for that Mass is convenient for many.

Please come. Even if you normally celebrate at another site, we would love to have members from all the different communities coming together, to let the Bishop know that the English language community, although we are dispersed, is a sizeable gathering of Catholics in his diocese. And of course, there is a reception afterwards, to which all are invited.

And before the Mass, at 4:30, Valeria Cronin will receive the Sacrament of Reconciliation for the first time. All are invited to attend the short ceremony – since this will be taking place, there will not be time for rehearsing prior to the Mass, so please arrive early if you are a parish or ministry representative – seats will be reserved and if you are doing one of the Prayers of the Faithful (there will be separate reserved seats for you as well).

PLEASE REGISTER!!!

There are usually registration slips at the back of the Church. There are four ways to register:

- 1) Fill out the slip of paper and give it to me.
- 2) Go onto the website and there is a space where you can register online.
- 3) Send me an email with the basic information.
- 4) If you are on Facebook, go to Parish Group and leave me a message. I will admit you to the group and you can leave your details in a private message there as well.

- 1 – A family may serve as Ministers of Hospitality. Adults are required to be present but children may certainly help in welcoming and passing out materials.
- 2 – 1st Lector reads the First Reading and on occasion the Responsorial Psalm
 2nd Lector reads the Second Reading and the Prayer of the Faithful

This is the form that will appear in the Heartbeat every week, reminding those of their upcoming commitment for service. For a while – hopefully a short while – there will be blanks, and not all ministries are the same for each Church. For whatever reason, if an individual wants to keep their name from being public, we will assign an alias, so they can be reminded and still maintain privacy.

RAMBLINGS

FROM THE REVEREND REDACTOR

A few months back, people in my office were talking about Mel Gibson's movie, The Passion of the Christ. One of my coworkers, a young 20 year old secretary, mentioned that she wasn't sure if she was going to go see it because it would be too sad.

That's when I jokingly told her that "It's okay; he comes back in the end. I read the Book." At which point she says, "There's a book?"

I received the piece above from a friend years ago, and it is probably one of those Internet jokes that never dies, but it points to something terribly important in our lives as Catholics – the need for ongoing education in our faith. Most Catholic parents recognize the need for their children to attend CCD classes, but they are less sensitive to the need for their own continuing education. Formation in our faith never ends, and the ability for us to learn more about God and the role of God in our lives is a gift that we must keep developing, not to mention knowing the history of our Church, our faith, and the basics of that faith.

It is especially important in a world where the clash of cultures is becoming an increasing tension, and where a solid knowledge of Catholic teaching (as opposed to the popular perception of “what the Church says”) is crucial. Unfortunately, too many adult Catholics today grew up in an age where the emphasis was less on teaching the faith than in promoting social justice (which is certainly an intrinsic part of our faith). The result is that some have missed basic education in history and moral theology and ethics that is necessary for an adult understanding of the Catholic faith, and how it should be lived in our world.

Today we celebrate three children from our parish who will receive their First Holy Communion, and two others who have prepared with us but who will receive the Sacrament in other parishes. Now what? Will we provide continuing education for them, and for other children who come to Church? What can we do for parents and other adults who want to continue their own faith formation? Coming to Mass on a weekly and even a daily basis is good and wonderful but it is not enough.

Any program of formation needs several elements:

- 1) It needs teachers, people who know the material and who can help share it. Fr. Schineller currently has two groups that meet weekly for Bible study and discussion. I have led and taught in the past and can certainly be a part of that activity. But we also need adults who can teach the classes for children. They don't have to “be” teachers, and some feel the better results in this field come from people who aren't professional educators but rather people who simply want to share the faith.
- 2) It needs time. Those who participate need to make the commitment of time – time to prepare, time to teach, and the time to make sure that participants – children and adults – actually attend.
- 3) Everything else can be provided – space, books and materials, encouragement and assistance. But without teachers and students and commitment, nothing will happen.

Congratulations to our First Communion recipients, and to the rest of you – do something good for yourself this week.
